Dear EPC Membership!

I am excited to highlight our next CLE luncheon presentation set for this Monday, March 20th at the MAC Downtown. This is our second round in our 3-part “St. Louis Practicing Scholars Series” in which we will draw on the richness of our own St. Louis estate planning community to welcome three star-studded panelists to our stage: T. Jack Challis (Midwest Trust), Carolyn Ohlsen (Lowenhaupt & Chasnoff), and Samir Tayob (Commerce Trust), with moderator Michael Foster (Commerce Trust). Our panelists are prepared to share their wealth of insights regarding an array of considerations and challenges in planning for, and serving as, individual / professional / corporate Trust Fiduciaries – i.e. key-holders to the successful planning and administration of trusts. The collective breadth and depth of the professional acumen and experiences held by this panel in this arena are almost fathomless. This is a discussion that will impact your practice.

In Person attendees – last day! – you have through tonight to register. We have almost 100 registered and still have plenty of room for you to come and dine & collaborate with us too! Bring your questions for the interspersed Q&A. Networking 11:30–12pm; Lunch & Program 12:00–1:15pm.
